

THE FATE OF ONE PLANET

Hello, and welcome to the website for my first science fiction novel.

THE FATE OF ONE PLANET.

My name is Ian Dow. I am a retired surveyor living in Hertfordshire, England.

I spent forty years making notes for this book, and in the 2020 lockdowns, I stopped talking and started typing. I was surprised to find how much I enjoyed this process after prevaricating about the bush for Soooo long.

I have a little problem. I hope you do not notice, but I am mildly dyslexic. Despite this, I have always been quite good at telling stories, so I hope you will find this novel entertaining.

To date, there are now twenty chapters for you to peruse out of the sixty-two. I may add more depending on feedback.
